

CONTENTS

Perpetual Roommates by T

80 | THE CHURCH'S WAR ON GAY SEMINARIANS

A Vatican mandate may force gay hopefuls to closet themselves in the closet. BY MARK OPPENHEIMER

87 | DANE COOK

The cult comic's next stop: a theater near you. BY STEVEN KOTLER

88 | THE SCOURGE OF OFFICE GROOMING

Your cubicle isn't a full-service salon. BY ANNA-KAISA BALKER

90 | THE FUTURE WILL HAVE TO WAIT

Why tomorrow isn't what it used to be. BY MICHAEL CHAJON

96 | IT TAKES TWO, BABY

Instant gratification is fine for some things, but love takes a slow hand: Good thing it's worth the wait. BY AUGUSTEN BURROUGHS

98 | THE CELEBRITY LAP DANCE

Why would the former Princess Leta spend her weekends as an autograph whore at sci-fi conventions? Because her mother tells her to. BY CARRIE FISHER

100 | NO END IN SIGHT

Maybe if the twins were on the front lines, Bush would bring our kids home. BY ANTHONY SWOFFORD

WISEGUY

102 | HARRISON FORD | The action legend on the pleasures of being a stingy asshole. BY OLIVER JONES

THE DETAILS

105 | STYLE | Check out these pin-striped khaki, schoolboy ties, and retro designer sneakers.

ANTHROPOLOGY

158 | GAY OR TELEVANGELIST? | Whether you're thumping the podium or doing a little faith healing, do-pliers will drop to their knees when you pitch a musical.